Partner with Svebio at NPC 2026!

As a partner of the Nordic Pellets Conference, you will have a unique opportunity to address all participants directly, share your perspective on the pellets market, and present your company's innovations and development.

The conference is highly valued across the industry and attracts many returning participants from the entire pellet value chain – from raw material supply, production and technology development to users, traders, policymakers, and other key decision-makers.

The Nordic Pellets Conference is one of the most important annual meeting places for the pellet and bioenergy sector. During these two days, we will explore current market dynamics, policy developments, and the evolving role of pellets in Europe's energy transition.

The programme will feature presentations and discussions on trends in pellet production and trade, sourcing and logistics, EU legislation and sustainability requirements, innovation in boiler and combustion technologies, and the increasing demand for renewable heating solutions in industry and residential sectors.

Engaging company presentations and networking opportunities will also take place in the conference exhibition area.
